Kevin, I caution you to cease your slanderous comments, which btw are highly unbecoming of someone who claims to be a scientist.

And remember, patience is a virtue.

Bailey, Cowan, Kaufman et al., are grift merchants trying to save their business model of selling snake oil alive.

Dear Ms. Massey,

It sounds like you would like people to independently fund a project which has already been done. This research is already available for discussion/debate.

As mentioned, given this published research, a true debate would allow for a moderator with questions obtained from audience members posed to debate participants. Should this be of interest, I am certain Mr. Kirsch would be happy to arrange it.

This could include members to appear at podiums in person or via zoom.

If this is of interest to you, I would be happy to participate in a True Debate where the audience participants provide the questions and can independently decide without influence. For this reason I am including both Mr. Kirsch and Dr. McCairn in this email link.

I look forward to hearing back from you and setting up such a Debate.

Respectfully,

Dr. Fleming

How to Settle the “Virus” Debate

July 15, 2022

This afternoon Dr. Tom Cowan and Dr. Mark Bailey issued a challenge to the virus believers/promoters/logists of the world, in an attempt to quickly and collegially settle this issue of whether or not viruses actually exist.

Several others, including (myself and) some high profile health and science experts, i.e. Dr. Mike Yeadon, Dr. Kelly Brogan, Dr. Timothy Noakes, Dr. Sam Bailey, have also signed on in a show of support and encouragement to see this challenge through.

It is in the interest of everyone to address the issue of isolation, and the such as SARS-CoV-2. This requires proof that the entry of morphological particles into living cells is both necessary and sufficient to cause the a which are contagious and disease causing.

We welcome your support and feedback for this initiative.

Signatories,

Essentially the challenge is for virologists to put their own methods to a simple test – a test that has the potential to disprove (but not prove) the theory behind their methodologies. A test that should be easy-peasy to pass if their methods are valid.

If they pass – great! We'll support and require them to then move onto the rigorous, scientific steps that to date have not been carried out.

If for some reason they don't pass:

then their claims about detecting “viruses” will be shown to be unfounded. All of the measures put in place as a result of these claims should be brought to an immediate halt.

Dr. Cowan and Dr. Bailey went into more detail in their live webinar, which was recorded and is shown below:
